PROCRASTINATION.

There is a thief that walks the world,
In the quick noonday and the starless night,
Protean like, n w ringed and curled,
Ragged anon, and grim and stark;
And he plies his tries with a ceaseless skill,
Defiantly, warily, working ill.
But I troll the charm
Will keep you from harm,
If scored in your memory ever,
"Who walks in the streets of By-and-By, will stop at the house of Never!"

He steals your purse, and he steals your time,
The golden grains of deed
From the chaff of purpose he filches oft,
With subtle hand of greed;
He flings the umbered rust on mind,
And it sinks, his captive, chained and blind:
But this is the charm
Will keep you from harm
If scored on your memory ever,
Who walks in the street of By-and-By, will stop in the house of Never.

Hopes which should blossom into joys,
As the blushing rose uncurls;
Tears which wisdom should alchemize
To a glorious rain of pearls;
Soft germs whence love's goodly fruit should rise,
He writhes and changes and petrifies;
But here is the charm
Will keep you from harm,
If borne on your mind forever:
Who walks in the streets of By-and-By, will stop in the house of Never.

Like the mighty Nemises of old,
His sandals of wood are made,
And swift will he glide and still to your side,
With light touch on your shoulder laid;
And "Wait" there is time, are the drugged words given,
And he steals from your soul its last chance of heaven
But this play-actor bind
On the brow of your mind,
Firm and forever:
Who walks in the streets of By-and-By, will stop in the house of Never.

As the stony seeds in the olden time,
Sprang up into armed men,
So thought—seeds sown in the field of life,
Raise goodlier ranks again.
Those—mailed hosts in earth's-strifes known;
These—angels to stand by the Great White Throne;
Then the wisdom deep
Of these old words keep
Your guide forever:
"Who walks in the streets of By-and-By, will stop at the house of Never."

Interesting Miscellany.

TRUSTING AN INDIAN CHIEF;

—OR,—

Confidence Returned.---A Fact.

One of the first settlers in western New York was Judge W., who established himself at Whitestown, about four miles from Utica. He brought his family with him, among whom was a widowed daughter with an only child, a fine boy of about four years old. You will recollect that the country around was an unbroken forest, and this was the domain of the savage tribes.

Judge W. saw the necessity of keeping on good terms with the Indians, for as he was nearly alone, he was completely at their mercy. Accordingly, he took every opportunity to assure them of his kindly feelings, and to secure their good will in return. Several of the chiefs came to see him, and all appeared pacific. But there was one thing that troubled him; an aged chief of the Seneca Tribe, and one of great influence, who resided at a distance of about six miles, had not yet been to see him; nor could he by any means ascertain the feelings and views of the Sachem, in respect to his settlement in that region.—At last he sent him a message, and the answer was, that the chief would visit him on the morrow.

True to his appointment, the Sachem came, Judge W. received him with marks of respect, and introduced his wife, his daughter, and the little boy. The interview that followed, was deeply interesting. Upon its results, the Judge conceived his security might depend, and he was, therefore, exceedingly anxious to make a favorable impression upon the distinguished chief. He expressed to him his desire to settle in the country, to live on terms of amity and good fellowship with the Indians; to be useful to them by introducing among them the arts of civilization.

The chief heard him out, and then said, "Brother, you ask much and you promise much; what pledge can you give of your faith?"

"The honor of a man that never knew deception," was the reply.

"The white man's word may be good to the white man, yet it is but wind when spoken to the Indian," said the Sachem.

"I have put my life in your hands," said the Judge; "is not this an evidence of my good intentions? I have placed confidence in the Indian, and I will not believe he will abuse or betray the trust that is thus reposed."

"So much is well," replied the chief; "the Indian will repay confidence; if you trust him, he will trust you. But I must have a pledge. Let this boy go with me to my wigwam; I will bring him back in three days with my answer."

If an arrow had pierced the bosom of the mother, she could not have felt a deeper pang than went to her heart, as the Indian made this proposal. She sprang from her seat, and rushing to the boy who stood at the side of the Sachem, looking into his face with pleased wonder and admiration, she encircled him in her arms, and pressing him close to her bosom, was about to fly from the room. A gloomy and ominous frown came over the Sachem's brow, but he did not speak.

But not so with Judge W. He knew that the success of the enterprize, the very lives of the family depended on the decision of the moment. "Stay, stay, my daughter!" said he. "Bring back the boy, I beseech you.—I would not risk a hair of his head. He is not more dear to you than me. But, my child, he must go with the chief. God will watch over him. He will be as safe in the Sachem's wigwam as beneath our roof and in your arms.

To Delinquents!---Pay up.

All those indebted for the Globe, advertising and job work, are requested to settle their accounts at the earliest moment convenient—at least between this time and the first day of April, 1857. This notice is particularly intended for those whose accounts have been standing for two years and upwards.—There are few, if any of these, who could not pay their accounts at a moment's notice, without any difficulty; and we hope they will not wait for another asking. We, as a general thing, are not in the habit of dunning, but justice to others requires this to be done.—We pay cash regularly to our operators, as well as for type, paper, ink, and so on, and cannot recognize as friends, those persons who are so negligent as to leave their accounts run for several years, when they are abundantly able to pay. We like to do business in a business way, and hope to be seconded by our friends.

Money Registered, can be sent by mail at our risk.

The License Law.

"Let well enough alone," is a sound old maxim that does sometimes to be applied in these days of fast reform. We should work with the instrumentalities we have, before we turn croakers, and flinging them aside, like wayward children, demand something new. Change is not always reform.

We make that paragraph preface to our opinion respecting what is being said and done in the temperance movement.

There is need to be on the alert to check the increase of the vice of intemperance in our borough. Nor is this the only time we have said it. Among the moral agents here—such as the pulpit and the press—we were first to call public attention to the fact.

What ought to be done? Have more patching up of the license system? Or turn radical, and go in for universal prohibition, or else freedom for all to sell? Verily, none of these; at least, not till we shall have tried what "good can come out of Nazareth."—Give to the present law a fair and thorough trial. Then, if there be sufficient reason, reject it—but not till then.

That this law is in a large degree inoperative among us, we do not deny—in fact, as was said before, the Globe was foremost to publicly affirm this melancholy fact.

And now whose fault is it? Need it be so? We opine not, if those most deeply interested would do their whole duty. Households should keep watch and ward over the erring footsteps of those they love. Let any parent or brother to a minor—let any wife, or father, or son, or brother to an habitual drunkard, mark well the haunts where that dear one seeks the fountains of poison. Let them be wary until they find proof, and can drive it home upon the transgressor of the law. The popular sympathies, and the sympathy of the court, will assuredly be with the prosecutors. It requires no great deal of penetration to foresee this; in fact, we have witnessed instances in point already; but only too few attempts of the kind have been made by parties interested, to secure the "consummation devoutly to be wished." Sharpen the teeth of the law, and it will bite its violators.

Death of Dr. Kane.

The United States mail steamship Cahawba, from New York via Havana, with dates from the latter port to the 20th instant has just arrived at New Orleans.

By her we have received the sad intelligence that Dr. Kane expired at Havana on the 16th insant, calmly and peacefully as a little child.

It had been evident for several days previous to those around him, that his sun of life was rapidly setting; and although the utmost care was bestowed upon him, in hopes of prolonging his existence, he gradually sank away, and died on Monday of last week.

The greatest possible sympathy was shown by the officials of the Island and all others, including the Captain General, who attended his funeral. The solemn cortege was very long and imposing. The corpse was placed on board the Cahawba, and conveyed to New Orleans. It will be forwarded by the river route to Philadelphia.

Bribery and Corruption in Congress---Will the Offenders be Expelled?

The Committee seem to have gone to work in earnest—without any considerations of fear or favor—and whatever the result, they deserve the thanks of the nation for their manly independence. The evidence possesses extraordinary interest, and its perusal cannot but startle the masses who have heretofore listened with incredulity to the stories of mercenary motives and actions that have from time to time reached them from Washington. If true and reliable, the offenders should not only be driven from their places in the Halls of the National Legislature, but they should be denounced as recreant and base by every high minded man in the country. The results of the labors of the Committee may be summed up in a few words.—They charge four members of Congress with disreputable conduct, viz:—Messrs. GILBERT, of New York; WELSH, of Connecticut; EDWARDS, of New York; and MATTESON, of the same State, and they recommend THEIR EXPULSION. They also recommend that JAMES W. SIMONTON, the correspondent of the New York Times, be expelled from the floor of the House, as a Reporter, and they, in conclusion, recommend the adoption of a bill to protect the people against corrupt and secret influences in matters of legislation. It provides that no person shall, directly or indirectly, offer or agree to give any money or other valuable thing, to any person on the contingency of the passage or the defeat of any bill. No person shall approach, converse with, or explain to, or in any manner attempt to influence any member of either House relative to such measures without first distinctly explaining whether he is interested personally in his own right, or as an agent for any other person in the passage or defeat of any measure. This offence is made a misdemeanor, to be punished on conviction with imprisonment from one month to a year, and a fine of from $500 to $1000. All combinations to influence legislation are declared null and void—and persons offending are to be punished for misdemeanor.

Such, then, are the charges and suggestions of the Committee. Their perusal produced an intense excitement in the House, some of the witnesses were denounced in unmeasured terms, and the course of the Committee was also bitterly complained of. It was, however, determined by a nearly unanimous vote, to print all the reports and the testimony, and the further discussion of the subject was then postponed till Wednesday 25th. But what is likely to be done? Will the Committee be sustained, and the offending parties be expelled, or will another stormy debate take place, and the whole matter end in smoke? The latter is likely to be the result. Indeed, should the friends of the individuals implicated determine to stand by and sustain them at all hazards, either this subject will occupy the remainder of the session, to the neglect of much important public business—or it will be postponed indefinitely. Let us hope, however, that the law appended to the report, and intended to prevent like occurrences for the future, will at least be agreed to—for perhaps, the exposure that has already taken place will prove a sufficient punishment to the delinquents. If, however, Congress should refuse to expel them, their constituents at home may, in the event of their guilt being fully established, pursue the proper course, and induce them to resign. There are one or two points of the testimony that deserve especial attention:—

F. F. C. Triplett, being sworn, said he had "never approached any member upon any subject with an improper proposition."

By Mr. Orr—Have you been brought in contact with any member in that connection?

Witness—I have. I suppose there is nobody who knows the organization of Congress, who expects to carry anything through it merely from love of justice.

By Mr. Orr—Is that the general reputation of Congress?

Witness—That is the general reputation of Congress.

During the examination of this witness in relation to his order on the Clerk for $14,500, in the event of the passage of a resolution for the purchase of his book, he said he received a message from a member of Congress, that he desired to be introduced to him, and to see him in reference to this book project.

Mr. Orr—Was it your impression, when Mr. Sweeney made application to you for the writing, that it was made in consequence of anything that had passed between him and the member; in other words, that his application was based on an interview with the member?

Witness—That was my impression, though the member never told me so. I do not know that he and I ever had a conversation about that at all. The truth is, that Mr. Sweeney came to me originally upon the subject. He knew all about the matter from the first. I supposed he was a friend of this party, and that if I paid him it would be satisfactory to the party.

The witness hesitated to give the name of the member, but the committee unanimously decided that he was bound to answer the interrogatory.

The witness then named William A. Gilbert, of New York—saying, "of course I had conversations with other members of the House, but this was the only thing that seemed like a definite understanding with a member."

The witness further stated that another member of Congress had conversed with him about the book, "the tenor of which was based upon the idea of receiving a part" of the contract, and he recollected that on one occasion the member asked him, in the event of their having to distribute more money than they had contemplated, whether he (Triplett) would not do what was right, or something of that sort.

Question by Mr. Orr—What was the name of that member?

Witness—Dr. Welch, of Connecticut.

Truly, we have fallen upon evil times, if our National Legislature deserves the reputation that is accorded to it by the foregoing. Let us hope that Mr. Triplett was unfortunate, and fell into the hands of the few who are corrupt, and that he did not become acquainted with the many who would scorn to be influenced in their votes and conduct by base motives. The details from first to last are painful and humiliating, and yet the fact that a Committee of this corrupt body has been found willing to ferret out all the facts, and to hold the culprits up to the scorn and contempt of their fellow citizens, is one well calculated to show that there are some clean hands and honest hearts among the members—individuals too who have the nerve not only to investigate in the most thorough manner, the delicate subject confided to them, but to point out in unequivocal language the proper course, as well to rebuke and punish the guilty, as to vindicate the character of Congress, and to uphold the honor of the nation. It now remains for the majority to decide upon the recommendations of the Committee—and this decision, we need scarcely state, will be awaited by the country at large—by all who take pride in the American name, and feel that they are identified with the national character, with the keenest interest.—Phila. Inquirer.

A MODEL TOWNSHIP.—As was affirmed by our correspondent last week, and as we see by the published minutes of their Educational Association, Catharine township, in Blair county is ahead of all other districts in the interior of Pensylvania, in earnest and enlightened devotedness to the cause of the Common School. The population is mainly that class of intelligent farmers who rightly apprehend what is for their good. Nor is their present course a mere spasm. The generation of their fathers, now passed away, felt the same interest in behalf of general education which their sons still evince. Hence it is that "Old Morris" township (of which Catharine is a fragment,) has sent forth into the world those who have earned distinction in literary, professional and business life—such men as Robert L. Johnston of Ebensburg, Charles E. Kinkead of Davenport, Iowa, and the Author of "Kansas Region." And it is pleasant to note that the ancient stamina yet exists among the farmer-citizens of this district of "Old Huntingdon." May they go on and prosper!

The New Cabinet.

Public attention, every where, is drawn to the new Cabinet of Mr. Buchanan, and there appears to be an universal desire to know who will form it. Those who have heretofore not felt any apparent interest in the matter, are now making their Cabinet speculations. Even the Washington Union, which, up to the present time, has scarcely alluded to the subject, is now speculating with the rest. In its issue of yesterday, we find the following:

"For the last twenty-four hours public opinion in Washington seems to have settled down upon the following cast of Mr. Buchanan's Cabinet:

Lewis Cass, Secretary of State.
Howell Cobb, Secretary of the Treasury.
John B. Floyd, Secretary of War.
A. V. Brown, Secretary of the Navy.
Jacob Thompson, Secretary of Interior.
J. Glancy Jones, Postmaster General.
Isaac Toucey, Attorney General.

"We know of no information of an authentic character which justifies the confidence with which the foregoing is received as the Cabinet, or as so near the Cabinet that only a single change is suggested. It may be mere conjecture; but whatever may have created the general impression, it is certain, so far as our observation has extended, the cast of the Cabinet above meets with decided approval. If this, or a Cabinet composed of such names, is formed, our anticipations as to the wise discrimination for which we have given Mr. Buchanan full credit, will be entirely realized. We express no opinion as to the correctness of the list of names, for we have no grounds for any opinion; but we venture to say, that if the list is the true Cabinet, the public mind will be entirely satisfied that Mr. Buchanan's administration will start under most favorable auspices."

In commenting upon which the Washington Star says:—

"We have to say that, from all the signs in the political horizon, we draw the conclusion that the gentlemen named above are to form Mr. Buchanan's Administration."

"As a whole, we are very sure that it meets the views of nearly every Democratic member of both Houses. Thus, it is already rendered certain that the new Administration is to start out with the confidence and the warmest sympathy of every Democratic Senator and Representative; a point never achieved before—one of inestimable importance, as will be apparent in six months. In the course of our long experience in such matters, we never before witnessed so universal approval of the selection of a Cabinet by an incoming Executive, as is just now being manifested by all those to whose sympathy and support Mr. Buchanan must look for the triumph of the policy of his Administration."

This is the nearest approach to a real, live, new Cabinet, we have yet seen, and will we be pleased to find the list correct. The gentlemen named are well known to the country, as national men and statesmen of the first order. Their countrymen fully confide in their integrity and ability. But while we shall be gratified at seeing Mr. Buchanan's Cabinet formed of such names, and feel that all sections of our wide spread country would be satisfied, we must confess that there is doubt about these rumored selections. Mr. Buchanan has kept his own councils so well, that we advise our readers who feel interested in the matter to wait until the official announcement is made. Then, and only then, shall we know positively who are to be the advisers of Pennsylvania's favorite son, the President elect.

The Negroes in Africa.

We are permitted (says the Boston Post) to make the subjoined extract from a letter written by an officer of the United States navy to a friend in this city. The writer is a son of a late distinguished Senator from one of the New England States. The letter is written from on board the United States ship St. Louis, and dated October 15, 1856, at "Little Fish Bay, west coast of Africa:"

* * * "There is very little variety upon this coast. "Niggers!" slaves! "niggers!" is the cry. This town is, like most other places upon the coast, made up, of a few people called white, and a crowd, a mass of miserable, filthy, worthless, indolent (niggers) natives. If Charles Sumner, Jack Hale, or any other sensible man, who wishes or is willing to be permanently cured of his mock philanthropy and sickly sentimentality in regard to the universal negro race, he has only to take a six months cruise upon the coast of Africa. If that will not cure him, and convince him that his sympathy for the three and a half millions of the happiest negroes on the face of the earth is misplaced, then I have only to say he is past hope and past cure.

"As I live, I do not believe there is one negro in one thousand upon the coast of Africa, who is as well off, morally, physically, or socially as the worst abused slave in the United States. Slavery here is slavery indeed, and of the most horrible kind. Cruelty practised here by "black" slave owners is heart-rending to witness. Some chiefs (black) own thousands—they sell, torture, or kill them, at pleasure. Ninety-nine of every hundred negroes, slaves of free, even in towns, would gladly exchange their condition with the meanest, most ill treated slave in the Union. It is impossible to picture the miserable condition of the native African upon his own soil. Civilization, or even partial culture, with the mass of natives, is an idea so perfectly absurd that it does not admit of a thought. With the combined efforts of a million competent, honest, industrious, persevering philanthropists; with millions of money yearly expended to the best possible advantage for a million of years, would not develop one hundred native Africans who would be of any account to the world at large. So much for "niggers". Having seen our negroes at home in our southern States, and having seen them here, I regard the "institution" as it exists there as a benign, nay, heavenly institution, and our southern brethren deserve the thanks of the whole Christian world, for having ameliorated, in such striking contrast with their brethren here, three and a half millions of negroes. * * * * You may imagine that, although never a democrat, I pray for the election of Mr. Buchanan, and mainly because upon this negro question the democratic party is right."

FARMER'S HIGH SCHOOL.—Petitions are being signed in this and other counties for such aid to the Farmer's High School, as "may be consistent with the true interest of the people at large."

This is a very modest request from our farmers, and asked in a very modest way.—Though tax-payers almost by vocation, they have seldom or never asked for any special appropriation for their great interest. And now, when the Farmer's High School, founded by bequests and donations of private individuals, absolutely requires for the erection of its buildings, the institution of experiments, and collections of apparatus, &c., the sum of $75,000, they only ask for what Legislature will please to give.

Can the Legislature find any better object to foster by the pecuniary aid it annually appropriates than this?

At present there is no school to which the farmer can send his son to learn the accomplishments necessary to the practically scientific country gentleman, or to give him a taste and preference for them. Nor have we in town or country, any men who properly understand some of the most common rural operations. If we employ a man to prune or graft our trees, the trees are disfigured or mortally injured. If we hear of any new seeds, machines, manures or processes, we have no means of learning their good and bad qualities save by the account given by interested salesmen. Should not farmers establish an agency for the trial—once for them all—of the necessary experiments, mostly requiring too much care, expense, time and special devotedness, than busy individual farmers can give?

The plan of the Trustees combines all these and many other great advantages, and we hope and trust that all our citizens, and especially our farmers, who are the dispensers of the bounties of Providence to us all, will press upon the Legislature their modest request.

The appropriation was lost last winter by five votes.—Clinton Democrat.

DRESS WARM.—Read the following good advice:—"Our climate is changeable. Pleasant and charming weather soon passes into raw and cold-taking days, which, unless provided against, are most disastrous to the health of the people. But the women—the young ladies—are the most exposed. Pride makes the most insensible and foolish beings which claim anything of reason and prudence. They dress to be sick, and half of them are, because they despise thick and warm clothing. Away with such nonsense, men and women, and prepare for the change of season. Better be healthy, beautiful and robust, than fashionable, thin-shoed and flounced-dressed gentry, with a genteel cough and consumptive look. Then dress warm!—Put away your wafer understandings and summer trappings, and betake yourself to thick, warm, sensible and protecting clothing, such as sound-minded men and women ought to choose."

Another Legal Opinion.

If "distance lends enchantment to the view," and said "view" refuses to return it, has "distance" a legal cause of action, and is she entitled to recover? Will one of our legal friends give an opinion?—Globe of last week.

"MY DEAR GLOBE:—Am not well versed in legal matters, therefore, I cannot say whether "distance" could sustain a suit. But to preserve harmony in the field, I suggest, that in such cases, "distance" take "views'" note, payable at sight. Yours truly, MUCHACHO."

We commend the above to the attention of the correspondents of the Hollidaysburg Register. It might possibly have some remote bearing on the Forgemen controversy.

The End of an Experiment of Socialism in Illinois---"The Icarian Community."

We find the following in the Springfield (Ill.) correspondence of the Missouri Republican:—

An interesting paper, showing the workings of socialism, to some extent at least, in a memorial now before the Legislature for the repeal of an act incorporating the "Icarian Community," passed in 1851.

This society was founded at Nauvoo in 1849, by one "Citizen Cabet," for the purpose of realizing his social and political system. It was to create a better state of society, in which there was to be no more poverty, misery, vices nor abuses. All were to live a life of peace and harmony. There was to be no antagonism nor rivalry. Its "material" object was to clear the lands and to cultivate them, to construct habitations, to put into operation all useful arts, to civilize and render fruitful the wilderness. Its fundamental principle was the "fraternity of men and people;" the consequences aimed at unity, equality and solidarity.

Contrary to the Fourierite of free love doctrine, the Icarians were strict in their regulations with regard to marriage. They exacted the greatest regard for the gentler sex, and the utmost purity in the connubial relation. Each family had a separate household. The community were to work in common and enjoy together the fruits of their labor. All men to be equal, none have any privilege (as such) and none possessing individually any torture. The political organization was to be essential democratic and republican.

Their by-laws required the Icarians to be industrious, temperate, careful, economical, cleanly, orderly, obedient to law, free from moral and physical vices, and to make fraternity and communism their religion.

Such was the beautiful theory that induced some twelve hundred souls to leave their homes in France and form a colony in the United States, for the purpose of making the experiment of its practicability. I said beautiful theory, for I doubt if any refined mind can withhold the application of that term to a system apparently so devoid of evils, and yet a system Utopian and ethereal.

Enthusiastically to contribute to what they deemed the welfare of mankind, the Icarians placed their money and property, all they possessed, together with their happiness, and that of their women and children, in the common stock of the community. But after seven years of experience, after innumerable sacrifices and privations, on the part of nearly all, the experiment as practised at Nauvoo has thus far proved a failure, and the colony has dwindled down to four or five hundred members. In this family of brothers, dissentions, ill-feeling and hatred arose. On the 3d of February, 1856, the society itself divided into two almost equal parties upon questions of internal government. An amicable separation was proposed by the minority, but it was not listened to. The powers of the elected officers were usurped, and the colony was declared to be in a state of revolution.

A meeting was called, which lasted from 8 o'clock in the evening till 6 o'clock in the afternoon of the following day. The Gerance (or executive officers) refused to give up possession of their offices, and then came open rebellion. The majority party crowded in the streets resolute to instal their chosen members by force. The two factions met in a state of unusual excitement, armed with guns, pistols and knives; scenes of violence ensued, the majority trying to force their way through doors and windows, and the minority repulsing them.

At another time doors were broken in with axes, and a melee took place, in which men and women were wounded. Anxiety and alarm prevailed throughout the community, as throughout the city. In the constant fear of attack or surprise, both parties had established regular night guards, and more than once the Mayor and public officers were requested to interfere for preserving quiet. These disruptions, alienations and enmities continue to exist to a greater or less extent, and the memorial now before the Legislature asks the repeal of the law incorporating the community, that the petitioners may withdraw their quota of stock, amounting together to about $40,000. A bill for that purpose has been printed, I understand, and will probably pass, if in the mass of business it can be reached.

LAST OF KNOW-NOTHINGISM IN CINCINNATI.—The Cincinnati Enquirer, of a late date, says:

Know-Nothingism finished its career on Monday, and disappeared forever from the political theatre in this county. The six thousand men who supported Fillmore last November, almost to a man, turned in and supported the Black Republican candidate. Although they had taken the most solemn oaths against foreigners, such was their invincible hatred of Democracy that they forgot them, and enlisted under the banner of Molitor, Hassaurel & Co., "foreign Demagogues, who left their country for their country's good." Hereafter Know-Nothingism will exist but in history. There are now but two parties in Hamilton county—the Democratic and Abolition—and voters will be compelled to array themselves upon one side or the other.

"NEW PAPER COVERLETS."—A correspondent of one of the morning papers, gives the following important suggestions in reference to keeping warm during the cold weather:

"I would state for the benefit of the public at this cold season, that they may sleep much more comfortable, and with fewer bedclothes, by placing one or two thicknesses of paper (common newspaper will answer) between the coverlets of their beds. This may appear ridiculous to some, as it did to me when I first heard of it, but, having tried it, I can testify, from experience, that it is an effective remedy for cold sleeping. If those who minister to the wants of the poor, will give it a trial, I believe they will find it a valuable aid in relieving their sufferings."

The plan is certainly worth a trial.

☞ EASY METHOD OF DETECTING SPURIOUS COIN.—A shopkeeper residing in Deptford, appeared before the magistrate at the Greenwich Police Court, as prosecutor in a case of "smashing," and in his evidence stated that, having taken a vast quantity of bad money, he had at length discovered a certain test for silver coin. It was his invariable custom, on receiving a doubtful piece, to rub it with blue vitriol stone, and then slightly wet it. The effect is immediately seen; for if the coin be spurious metal, it at once turns black, but if genuine there is no alteration in its appearance.—English Paper.

The Murder at Altoona.

A young physician, named Samuel T. Norcross, a native of Lexington, Mass., was brutally murdered at Altoona, in this State, on the morning of Friday, the 16th of January, by a man named David Stringer McKim, who started from Pittsburg with him as a traveling companion, Norcross being quite unwell in consequence of an abscess in the side. The murderer is still at large, though it has been but a short time since he was seen in this city.

High Constable Blackburn, of this city, has been on the search for McKim for some time past. The officer, after visiting Pittsburg, and obtainining a full description of the alleged murderer, visited Chester and Delaware counties, where it was found that he was charged with the larceny of 23 horses. He also discovered that McKim had three wives, his lawful one residing in Delaware, and the others in New Jersey.

At Altoona it was ascertained that a man answering the description was seen lurking about the building in which the inquest upon the murdered man was held until a verdict of murder was rendered by the jury. He then disappeared, and was not traced again until the officer arrived at Reading; here it was found that he had spent several days, and then left with two women of loose morals, after having purchased dresses, jewelry, &c., for them. From this place he went to Pottsville with his female companions, rented and furnished a house for them at an expense of about $800, and here he would have been arrested but for the foolishness of a gambler who made his acquaintance.

It appears that while the supposed murderer was on his way to Pottsville with the women, the gambler entered into conversation with one of the women, and by this means received an invitation to visit the house to be opened by their friend. The gambler, finding that the man had some money, determined to inveigle him into a game, and strip him, but before he could accomplish his object, he (the gambler,) saw a description of Norcross's companion and supposed murderer, but, instead of having McKim arrested immediately, he (the gambler) commenced telegraphing to the Mayor of Philadelphia for a fuller description, and after two days had been spent in this way, the gambler came to the conclusion that McKim was the man, and telegraphed to the Mayor to send an officer up.

In the meantime the gambler had informed one of the women of the discovery he had made, and requested her to keep quiet; but she, feeling, I suppose, some compassion for the man that had clothed and fed her, informed McKim that he was suspected, and he, without admitting the truth, left Pottsville two days before the officer from Philadelphia arrived. McKim was seen after this in Philadelphia, but all traces now have been lost of him. His trunk is still at the Pennsylvania depot, and in it is a carpenter's rule with his name upon it. The furniture which he had in the house at Pottsville, and the jewelry which he gave the women, has all been seized by the authorities of Pottsville, and will be sold, and the proceeds given to the friends of the deceased. The women that lived with him were hooted and pelted with snow balls as they were going to the depot to leave the town. McKim is about 6 feet high, stoop shouldered; sandy hair, bald in front; high cheek bones, and there is a scar in the palm and on the back of one of his hands, caused by a pistol shot.—N. American.

From the New York Times, of Feb. 19th.

The New York Tragedy.

On Saturday, the day after the murder of Dr. Burdell, a man called at the Trunk Store of Mr. Hill, No. 439 Hudson street, near Morton, and purchased a large carpet bag, into which he put a bundle of clothing, after which he locked the bag and took the key, stating at the same time that he would leave the bag for a short time as he was going to New Haven. The bag remained for several days and the man not calling, a suspicion arose in Mr. Hill's mind that the bag might have some connection with the Bond street affair. Mr. Hill called in a policeman and the bag was opened and its contents examined—"it contained a number of bloody garments, and other suspicious indications," which it is thought may afford a clue to unravel the mystery that surrounds the Burdell tragedy.

PROMISE TO PROVE AN ALIBI FOR SNODGRASS.

To the Editor of the New York Times—

Seeing many fale statements in relation to George V. Snodgrass, I will simply say that he has been in my employment since the 1st of January, and he has always fulfilled his duties to my entire satisfaction, and was in my store at the time the dagger was said to have been purchased, which can be proved when called for by young men in my employment. Hoping that this will silence the many slanders against him and his family, I remain

ANDREW JACKSON AND FRANKLIN PIERCE.—General Jackson was, if possible, says the Journal of Commerce, a better-abused man than President Pierce has been. Truth and justice will yet do for the latter what they have done for the former. His defamers will skulk away as Gen. Jackson's do now, and very likely will claim to have been his friends. In our opinion, President Pierce's administration has been as honest and patriotic, and about as advantageous to the public interests, as General Jackson's was. What one thing, foreign or domestic, has he undertaken that he has not accomplished, and what one measure of public policy has he accomplished that the nation, as a whole, would wish to see reversed? Echo answers, "WHAT ONE?"

WEBSTER.—The following tribute at the tomb of "the great Constitutional lawyer" was published originally in the Boston Post, with the signature of the "Printer Bard," and has been very generally copied by newspapers throughout the country. Not all our readers may be aware that their fellow-citizen, MAX. GREENE, Esq., is the author of these lines:

Again* the mournful death-bell tolls!
In crape yon star-flag bind:
Gone to the Senate of great souls,
The Man of god-like mind.

High on the marble cliffs of time,
Is carved his deathless name;
And all his mortal life sublime,
Is shrined in starry fame.

He now is with the radiant band,
Who here as giants trod:
Gone to the far-off spirit land—
The Congress of our God.

Temperance Alliance.

Pursuant to previous notice, a large number of the citizens of this borough assembled in the Court House on Saturday evening, 21st inst., for the purpose of organizing an Alliance in favor of the cause of Temperance, and the suppression of vice and immorality.

The meeting was organized by appointing WM. P. ORBISON, Esq., President; J. S. Morris, Chas. Miller, Wm. Boat and David Dunn, Vice Presidents; R. E. McDivitt and G. W. Garrettson, Secretaries, and opened with prayer by Rev. A. B. Still.

The object of the meeting was then stated by Mr. Still, who, in connection, offered some appropriate remarks and suggestions in favor of one more united effort by the friends of Temperance in favor of the cause. He was followed in his remarks by Rev. O. O. McLean, and A. W. Benedict, Esq. When the following preamble and resolutions were submitted and adopted:

WHEREAS: In the Providence of God there is an urgent demand for united and vigorous action on the part of philanthropists and christians, in suppressing alcoholic liquors as a beverage. Therefore,

Resolved, That we form ourselves into an organization to be called the Temperance Alliance, No. 1, of Huntingdon.

Resolved, That the object of this Alliance, is the suppression of Alcoholic liquor as a beverage.

SIGNED BY THE OFFICERS.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE GLOBE.

MR. EDITOR:—I take my pen to while an hour away, and also, to transmit a few lines to your columns.

Changes of country, scenery, and new objects arising on every side, have wrought new feelings, awakened new sentiments, and arousd all those finer feelings, that changes from dull to lively, are wont to do. It has been said that "variety is the spice of life," and truly it is. It is very pleasant to observe the contrast between this and my own State; not that I think this more beautiful, only in some respects; but I will not give my opinion of this State, until you know the beautiful State in which I reside.

My husband and I, started from a small village in the interior of the Buckeye State, last Monday morning, and novel was our ride that day; not only novel from changes of scenery, but from the variety of human specie that crowded the cars. On this side, we were elated by the lively tones of a cosy little group, rendered laughable by the "rich Irish brogue," while on the other, "sweet German accents," hailed our ears, and perhaps, not few, were raw "Vairmounters," talking in high shrill tones, about the "wonderful fixins'" of something connected with the cars; everything seemed to attract their attention; the most wonderful thing to them, was the engine, that was something that "beat them." One gentleman, with his family, a wife and three interesting children, attracted my attention a great part of the time. At every station we stopped, he would take those three children out of the cars, and walk to the engine, look over, under, and at the side of it, wondering, I suppose, how the tarnal thing ever was made; his wife would hear the same every time, "Wall if that don't beat me, that ar engine is worth a feller's money, just one sight of it. I'd jist gin a fip, to know how a feller ever made sich a thing as that," and too, he was very anxious the children should see all; every few minutes, you would hear, "you Peggy Ann, don't go to sleep, keep awake, and see all there is to be seen," and then, Theodore Alvin, keep still for mercy's sake, or you'll set a feller crazy;" finally, he made a compromise with them, by telling them he would buy "two cents worth of candy at the next town, if they would only jist keep still."

We were going at the rate of 30 miles an hour, between Mansfield and Loudonville, when suddenly we came to a final stop, all eyes were turned immediately to the windows, to ascertain the cause. Presently, the conductor came in and told us very pleasantly, that the bridge had been injured by high water, and we would all have to walk some few rods, after we crossed the bridge, where we would find two cars, one passenger and one baggage; we walked over through mud and water, crowded in hundreds of us, and rode in that way, seven miles, when we again halted. Another bridge washed away! Horror! had we to walk through the mud again? No, on looking up a hill, we saw carriages and wagons enough to contain all, and soon we were on our way; we rode two miles and again took the cars, where we remained until near midnight, when we arrived safely at Pittsburg.

We staid there, in that horrible, dismal place, two days, and left for this place. I was perfectly charmed with the scenery on this road; for miles its was completely embroidered with beautiful evergreens. Thousands of trees stood there almost unnoticed, while we value a few, very highly, we hail them as perfect treasures for our yards. I could but sigh, when I saw so many uncared for, and many cut down or destroyed. Kittanning Point is a frightful looking place. I shuddered at the thought of being in such danger. One moment, and one might have been in eternity. Terrible thought! But I will not dwell on that. I tremble at the thought of it yet. Those tunnels are remembered! especially the last one; darker than "Egyptian darkness" could be. The lamp almost failed to give light in the midst of such darkness. We hailed the light again with joy, and were soon going at a great speed.—This is a beautiful morning, cold and clear. Business men step briskly around, idle ones walk dreamily around, with both hands thrust in their pockets, whistling some old slow tune, while the juvenile part of the community, are running up and down the pavement, joyous as birds, ever and anon stopping to trip the light fantastic toe.

Happy childhood! Those children little think this the most pleasant, the sweetest part of their existence. They see not, and know not the cares of life that await them. May their path be strewn with pleasure's flowers, and their mission on Earth be performed to the joy of Him who assigned it to them. I am pleasantly situated in a village of your county, where I am stopping for a few days, and as I raise my eyes to the window, hills, that appear to me as great mountains, encounter my gaze on every side. I have often, in fancy, gazed on the cloud-capped summits of mountains, and very often pictured the mountaneous scenery of the East, but never were my anticipations so great, as my reality now is; fancy was nothing to the reality.

I think this country beautiful, very beautiful. Hills arising in every direction, with lovely valleys stretched between, renders it delightful; and brooks, clear as a crystal, lined with evergreens, here and there pouring over some cliff, or bank, makes one think of young Niagara's. The "Blue Juniata" is a beautiful stream, and from the song of it, beautiful associations are connected.

I have been scribbling on unconscious of the flight of time. On looking at the clock, I find it is time I was closing my prosy letter. M. A. H. B.

THE BOOK OF THE AGE.—"'TIS MUCH TO SAY, YET TRUTH TO SAY IT."—RECOLLECTIONS OF A LIFETIME, OR MEN AND THINGS I HAVE SEEN IN EUROPE AND AMERICA,

By S. G. GOODRICH, the veritable "Peter Parley," author of "The History of all Nations," &c., &c. In two volumes, 150 pp. large 12mo. 25 engravings, including an accurate Steel Portrait of the Author. Price, Black or Scarlet Cloth, $300; Scarlet cloth, gilt edges, $4; Half calf, marble edges, $5; Gilt Edges, $7.

This work embraces the prominent public events of the last half century, both at home and abroad; a complete autobiography of the author—his early days, education, and literary career; and an amount of original, curious, and valuable personal incident, anecdote and description, seldom, if ever, met with in a single work. It is the author's life-long work, and nothing superior if equal to it in blended amusement and instruction, has ever been published. Mr. Goodrich is the author and editor of 170 volumes, of which seven millions of copies have been sold! and this the great work of his life time, embodies the condensed substance of his ample literary and practical experience; the war with England in 1812-14, in which Mr. Goodrich was a private soldier; the Hartford Convention, whose operations took place under his immediate observation, and with most of the members of which he was personally acquainted. Embracing curious and interesting details respecting old Jeffersonian Democracy, Old Federalism, and Connecticut Blue Lights; curious and marvelous events connected with the rise and progress of religious sects in the United States; with descriptions of the French Revolution of 1838, and Louis Napoleon's Coup d'Etat, both of which the author witnessed. Also, a full account of the 'Peter Parley's Tales,' of which four millions have been sold.

In the course of the work will be found pen and ink portraits of over Two Hundred celebrated persons—Presidents, Vice-Presidents, Kings, Queens, Emperors, Soldiers, Poets, Wits, Enthusiasts, Physicians, Lawyers, Politicians, Diplomatists, &c.—all described from personal acquaintance or observation. ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ANIMATED NATURE.—A BOOK THAT IS REALLY ALL LIFE.—EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IT.—LIVING NATURE IN ALL ITS FORMS.

The only book of its kind ever published, which gives Pictorial Representations and Popular Descriptions of the History, Habits and modes of life of all the classes of living beings on the earth, in the ocean and in the air. Uniform retail price.

In One Quarto Volume 1350 Illustrations, Muslin Gilt Back and Center, $3.00. The same—Marble Edge, Embossed Morocco, Gilt Back and Center, $3.00. The same—Extra Red Turkey Morocco, Gilt Edges and Full Gilt Sides, $5.00.

Books upon almost every other subject have been circulated among the people, except those relating to the very interesting and important one of Natural History. The books which have heretofore been published on this subject, have been adapted to mere children, or to those who made it a thorough study. Hence, very few of the millions of readers in this country have, within their reach, anything satisfactory upon this subject. This indicates a great and an obvious want, as no subject is more intensely interesting, and none more improving, than that of the living beings that people the globe. This want we are confident we fully meet, in the work we here offer to the public.

NO LIBRARY IS COMPETE WITHOUT IT.—TESTIMONY OF SIXTEEN THOUSAND PURCHASERS.—MAGNIFICENT WORK OF HISTORY!—A WHOLE LIBRARY IN ITSELF!—COST $11,000—70 MAPS—700 ENGRAVINGS.—A HISTORY OF ALL NATIONS,

From the earliest period to the present time, the history of every nation, ancient and modern, being separately given. By S. G. GOODRICH, author of several works of History, 'Peter Parley's Tales,' &c.

It is believed that the above work will be very acceptable to the American public. It is the result of years of toil and labor, assisted in his researches by several scholars of known ability, and has been got up at a great expense by the proprietors. No pains have been spared in the execution of the Illustrations and Maps, which are prepared expressly for this work. Indeed, all the other historical writing of Mr. Goodrich, sink into insignificance, when compared to this, the result of his riper and maturer years. It is admitted that one hundred dollars could not purchase the same matter in any other shape, and the publishers confidently expect, in consideration of the great literary value of the work, the large sum expended in preparing it for the press, and the exceedingly moderate price at which it is offered, that it will be favorably received by every lover of good books. Many of our first scholars, divines and gentlemen, who have examined the work, have given it their unqualified approbation and commendation, which it richly deserves.

UNIFORM RETAIL PRICES.

In one volume, Turkey Morocco, Marble Edge, Full Gilt	8,00
In two volumes, Turkey Morocco, Marble Edge	7,00

Many of our Agents having been told when soliciting subscribers, that this work would soon be sold in Bookstores, and at a reduced price, we hereby give notice, as Sole Publishers of it, it will not be sold in Bookstores at any price, and will be offered by our canvassing Agents only, who have the sole right of sale in their respective districts, except that where we have not appointed an agent, WE will send copies by mail, postage pre-paid, to any part of the United States, upon receipt of the retail price.

TREMENDOUS EXCITEMENT!—ANOTHER BANK CLOSED!

The well known establishment of Messrs. LOVE & McDIVITT, on Market street, Huntingdon, was yesterday compelled to close its doors on account of the tremendous rush of customers, occasioned by the arrival in port of the boat "Broad Top" from the East, having on board, the most extensive assortment of fresh Groceries, Confectionaries, &c., &c., &c., ever offered for sale in this place. Today, however, they are happy to be able to announce to their numerous friends and patrons—to the public generally—and "the rest of mankind," that they are again open, and prepared to dispose of their entire stock, on the most reasonable terms, for cash or country produce—consisting of the following, viz: Coffee, Sugar, Teas, Molasses, Fish, Salt, Cheese, Crackers, Cakes, Fruit, Confectionaries, Hams, Shoulders, &c., Tobacco of the best quality and Segars of every grade. Candles, Oils, Fluids, Camphene, &c. Nuts of every description, Figs, Raisins, &c. In short, every thing usually found in an establishment of this kind.

As the terms will be strictly CASH, or country produce in exchange for goods, their stock will be disposed of at the LOWEST PRICES.

Thankful for past favors, they would still solicit a share of public patronage. All are invited to call and examine for themselves, as no pains will be spared in order to accommodate. December 3, 1856.

IMPORTANT TO DAGUERREOTYPISTS, MARBLE DEALERS AND OTHERS. MONUMENTAL DAGUERREOTYPE CASES. A method has long been sought for, to insert in a durable manner, Daguerreotype Likenesses to Head Stones and Monuments.—I have been manufacturing these cases for the last two years, and can warrant them to secure the picture for a long number of years.

The outside case is made of Parian Marble, and the box which encloses the picture and keeps it in a state of great preservation for a long number of years, is made of brass, —a screw box. It makes a very neat job on a Head Stone or Monument. They are used in Greenwood Cemetery, Mount Auburn, Laurel Hill, and many other Cemeteries in the United States.

A liberal discount made to Marble Dealers and Daguerreotypists. Price from $2.25 each to $9.50. A circular of engravings will be sent to any address, free, with price list. Address,

A. L. BALDWIN,
Agent of Mausoleum Dag. Co., 335 Broadway, New York.
December 24, 1856.

Huntingdon, April 7, 1856.

MONEY, MONEY, MONEY.—Why be without Money? when it is just as easy for any one to be around with a pocket full as not, if they only think so. I have got a new article, from which from five to twenty dollars a day can be made, either by male or female. It is highly respectable business, and an article which is wanted in every family in the United States. Enclose me two dollars by mail, and I will forward by return mail a Circular, with full instructions in the art. The business is very easy. Try it, if you are out of employment, and you will never regret it: for it will be better for you to pay the above sum, and insure a good business, than to pay twenty-five cents for a spurious advertisement. This is no humbug. Try it! Try it! Try it! Address your letters to DWIGHT MONROE, New York.

Dec. 24, 1856-3m.

I sent one of my Circulars to an Editor in Georgia, and he gave me a notice in his paper like the following:

"Mr. Monroe sent me one of his Circulars, and I will just say to my readers that whoever of you are out of employment that Mr. Monroe's business is a good busines, and money can be made out of it by any one who engages in it, for it is no humbug."

LIGHTNING RODS! Armitage's PATENT OF SUPERIOR ELECTRIC MAGNET LIGHTNING RODS, it is now admitted on all hands, that every building to be secure from the destructive influences of lightning should be provided with a good conductor.

The large number of worthless rods that are put up makes it necessary for purchasers to examine the merits of the different rods offered for sale.

The public need but to examine Armitage's rods to be convinced that they are constructed upon not only the best, but the only safe principle of any rod in use.

Over 6000 of these rods have already been put up without the loss of a dollar's worth of property by lightning in any building to which they have been attached, which is the best evidence that they are perfectly secure.
